[Gmaj7] She looks in the mirror and stares at the wrinkles that
[C] Weren't there yesterday

And thinks of the young man that [Gmaj7] she almost married
[C] What would he [B7] think if he [C] saw her this [B7] way

She [Gmaj7] picks up her apron in little girl fashion

As [C] something comes into her mind

Slowly starts dancing re[G]memb'ring her girlhood

And [C] all of the [B7] boys she had [C] waiting in [D] line [C] [D] oh

[G] Such are the [Am] dreams of the [Bm] everyday [Am] housewife

You [G] see ev'ry[Am]where any [Bm] time of the [D] day

An everyday housewife who [C] gave up the good life for [Gmaj7] me

[Am] [Gmaj7] [Am] [Amaj7]

The [Amaj7] photograph album she takes from the closet

[D] And slowly turns the page

And carefully picks up the [Amaj7] crumbling flower

The [D] first one he [C#7] gave her now [D] withered with [C#7] age

She [Amaj7] closes her eyes and touches the house dress that

[D] Suddenly disappears

And just for the moment she's [A] wearing the gown

That [D] broke all their [C#7] minds back [D] so many [E7] years

[D] [E7] oh

[A] Such are the [Bm] dreams of the [C#m] everyday [Bm] housewife

You [A] see ev'ry[Bm]where any [C#m] time of the [E7] day

An everyday housewife who [D] gave up the good life for [A] me

[Bm] [C#m] [E7] oh

[A] Such are the [Bm] dreams of the [C#m] everyday [Bm] housewife

You [A] see ev'ry[Bm]where any [C#m] time of the [E7] day

An everyday housewife who [D] gave up the good life for [A] me

[Bm] [C#m] [Bm] [A]
