From: Richard G's Ukulele Songbook www.scorpex.net/Uke

Well a [G] hen and a rooster from [D7] way out west
Said the [G] hen to the rooster I [D7] love you the best
The [G] rooster [G7] said you're a [C] popeyed [C#dim] liar
I [D7] seen you flirting with the big Shang[G]hai

Chorus: [G] Who broke the lock [C] I don't [G] know
[G] Who broke the lock on the [D7] henhouse door
[G] I'll find [G7] out be[C]fore I [C#dim] go
[D7] Who broke the lock on the henhouse [G] door

[G] Down in the henhouse [D7] on my knees
I [G] thought I heard a [D7] chicken sneeze
It was [G] only [G7] rooster [C] saying his [C#dim] prayers
And [D7] thanking the Lord for the hens up[G]stairs

Now there [G] was an old rooster 'bout [D7] forty years old
He'd [G] done lots of things that'd [D7] never been told
His [G] toes curled [G7] up and he [C] could not [C#dim] scratch
But the [D7] young hens say his eggs still [G] hatch

[G] Said the big red rooster to the [D7] little red hen
You [G] ain't laid an egg in [D7] Lord knows when
Said the [G] little red [G7] hen to the [C] big red [C#dim] rooster
You [D7] ain't been around quite as often as you [G] used to

Then the [G] old fox said [D7] to the little red hen
[G] Open up the door or I'll [D7] break it in
The [G] hen said [G7] no and [C] began to [C#dim] squawk
[D7] Ordered the rooster to secure the [G] lock

[G] Down by the farmer's [D7] barnyard gate
[G] Blowed my horn both [D7] soon and late
[G] Farmer's [G7] dog couldn't [C] bark nor [C#dim] bite
But the [D7] son of a gun he could read and [G] write

Now [G] Deacon Johnson and [D7] Missus Jones
[G] Used to fool around when [D7] Jones weren't home
Come [G] home one [G7] morning 'bout a [C] quarter to [C#dim] four [D7] Who went out that old back [G] door
